

The map displays a complex network of urban streets. A prominent yellow-shaded area covers a large portion of the upper left and center, indicating a specific property or project site. This area is bounded by several streets, including Avenida Ipora and Rua Violeta. To the right of this main area, there's another section outlined in yellow, running along Rua Girassol. The lower part of the map shows a more dense grid of streets, including Avenida Dom Pedro I, Avenida Dom Pedro II, and Avenida Dom Pedro III. Various smaller streets like Rua Cravo, Rua Margarida, and Rua Violeta are also labeled. The map uses different colors to distinguish between the highlighted areas and the surrounding urban fabric. A blue line runs along the bottom edge of the map, possibly representing a river or a major road. The overall layout suggests a well-planned urban development.
